

Where you sit and how you fit

People often think that students who sit at the back are lazy. But it is not true. In fact, shy students often choose the back row because it is far away from the teacher and they do not want to answer questions or be involved in discussions, and they probably will not speak too much. Students who sit in the middle of the classroom probably like their teacher, caring, outgoing, cheerful. They are normally serious about learning and feel disappointed with low marks in tests and exams. Students at the front usually want to discuss things with the teacher and are often keen on the subject. They want to be in the best place to see and hear everything the teacher does and says.
