Third Term English Exam

Endangered animals are species where the number of animals living in the wild has been greatly reduced due to variety of reasons, such as deforestation or changing climate. This means that they are at high risk of dying out in the near future if we don't take any steps to protect them. As one of such animals is Panda.

Panda lives in the south central of China. It is a lazy animal. It feeds on bamboo trees and sometimes eats birds. Adult male measures around 1.2 to 1.9 m tall and can weigh up to 160 kg. Panda has a thick black and white fur. This mammal lives up to 20 years. It is a vulnerable species, so there are a few numbers living in China mountain because of the deforestation, which destroyed their habitats, and pollution. Also people hunt them for clothing or decorative items.

To protect this animal, we must stop cutting down bamboo forests where pandas live. We must punish illegal hunting. People should raise awareness about pandas in schools and communities. We should also support wildlife organizations that protect panda habitats .
